JOHN A. BRITTON DIES IN SAN FRANCISCO

John A. Britton of Edgewood Road passed away at the Wakfield Sanitorium in San Franciso at 2:30 yesterday morning, following a brief illness Redwood City losses one of its most prominent and most respected citizens with the passing of the man who from the lowly estate of a grocery clerk had, by his own efforts, worked himself up to the presidency of one of the state's largest public service corporations; and yet had not become engrossed in his own advancement to the detriment of the human sympathy which one man should bear for his fellow men.

John A. Britton was the president of the Pacific Gas and Electric Company from the founding of that company, having previously been connected with the California Gas and Electric Company, which became the Pacific Gas and Electric Company about fifteen years ago. In this line of work Mr. Britton was thoroughly grounded form actual experience, having done every part of the necessary work from digging trenches up. It is due in no small measure to the thorough knowledge of the great executive that the Pacific Gas and Electric Company is what it is today.

Mr. Britton was a member of the Masonic fraternity, being a member of Oakland lodge; he is a thirty-third degree Mason, and a Knight Templar, and a member of the Mystic Shrine. Besides his Masonic connections Mr. Britton was a member of the Bohemian Club, in which he held the office of president.

Mr. Britton was born in Boston, Massachusetts, on October 9, 1855. He has been a resident of Redwood City for many years. Several years ago he constructed the beautiful residence on Edwood road, where he has since resided.

Besides his wife, Mrs. J. A. Britton, the deceased deaves a daughter, Mrs. Walter Kellogg of 535 Brewster street. No arrangements have been announced for the funeral as yet except that it will be held Monday under the direction of the Masonic lodge.

Affidavits Filed In Stanley Case

Following the charges made by Attorney Samuel T. Bush of San Francisco, representing Benjamin B. Stanley, that the jury before which the case of Stanley vs Edward F. Fitzpatrick and others was heard recently, was selected with partiality by Judge Buck, and charging Judge Buck with fraud, five affidavits were filed in the office of the county clerk last Thursday. The affidavits were filed by Judge Buck, Sheriff Lampkin, John Monday, foreman of the jury and two members of the jury, Daniel Mullen and Mrs. Louise Kroeck.

The affidavit of Sheriff Lampkin states that the order issued to him to draw a panal for the jury was in regular form and that the panal drawn by him was done so without any partiality. Judge Buck in an affidavit avers that the jury was drawn in regular manner and that at the time of drawing the panal it was not known which of several cases the jury would serve on.

TRANSCRIPT FILED IN FAMOUS HIGHTOWER MURDER TRIAL

The official transcript of the William Hightower case was filed in the office of county clerk, Elizabeth M. Kneese, this week by Walter Trefts, who was official reporter of the court at the time that the famous murder case was being tried.

The transcript has been delayed by the fact that one of the reporters left the state, taking the notes with him. This caused Trefts considerable loss of time in recovering the notes. The transcript completed consists of 759 typewritten pages.

Hightower's attorneys, Herron and Emmons, at the close of the trial filed a notice of appeal, which since has been pending awaiting the transcript of the proceedings of the trial. The attorneys afterwards filed a petition in the district court of Appeals for an order to have the reporters transcript demanded immediately. Judge Buck, therefore, on a motion by District Attorney Swart ordered Trefts to show cause why he should not be prosecuted for contempt of court. The case will probably be dropped now that the transcript is filed.

Pioneer Gas Man Expires

Word was received from Oakland this week telling of the death in that city of Chester H. Pennoyer. The deceased was well known in Redwood City where he resided for a number of years preceeding the earthquake, at which time he was manager of the United Gas and Electric Company, a local concern which supplied the residents of Redwood City with gas and electricty previous to the formation of the Pecific Gas and Electric Company.

The United Gas and Electric Company, was composed of four local men, Pennoyer, Huntington, Fish and Green, and had its offices in the building now occupied by the Elite apartments. The power house is still standing, being incorporated in the building of the P. G. & E.. Here by means of a steam engine and dynamo, electric energy sufficient for supplying the few needs of the town twenty years ago was produced, while a coal burning retort was used to produce the gas for local consumption.

Since deaving Redwood City Mr. Pennoyer has been living in Oakland. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florence M. Pennoyer, a daughter, Mrs. Elbert R. Hunter. He was a native of San Jose, and a member of the San Jose Lodge F. & A. M., also of San Jose Lodge B. P. O. E. The funeral was held in Oakland last Monday.

SAN MATEO TO ENTERTAIN THE PRESIDENT

San Mateo and Burlingame will have the opportunity of hearing President Harding talk when he visits this section next month. The president will visit the Base Hospital at Menlo Park and will stop off at both Burlingame and San Mateo while enroute.

It would seem to us that the good people of Redwood City should bestir themselves and secure a promise from President Harding to make a short stop here. If our memory serves us right, President Benjamin Harrison was the last chief executive to favor Redwood City with a visit. Prior to President Harrison's visit, President Ulysses S. Grant favored us with a short stay in our midst and spoke at the old Germania hall.

SPECIAL SCHOOL ELECTION TO BE HELD JULY 27TH

The trustees of the Sequoia Union High School district at their meeting Thursday decided to ask the people of the district to pass a special tax for the purpose of completing the new high school building which is being erected here. It has been found that the contracts necessary to finish the building as it should be finished will cost $55000 more than is now available. The trustees therefore decided to put the matter up to the people for determination as to whether parts of the structure shall remain unfinished until some future time.

The trustees will make no campaign upon the question, but will leave the matter entirely in the hands of the electors of the district. If they want a completed building they will vote yes. If they are willing to have the matter left over to some future time, then the trustees will cancel some of the existing contracts.

The election will be held in each of the elementary districts comprising the high school district, July 27, 1923.

TWO GRASS FIRES THREATEN TACOMA MILLS PROPERTY

The fire truck was called out last Thursday by an alarm from box 15 and found the cause of the alarm to be a fire which was spreading in the marsh grass along Redwood creek from a point across from the tannery wharf and was rapidly advancing toward the old barn of the Hansen and Ackerson Lumber Company on the rear of the Fox and McNulty property. No damage was done and the firemen succeeded in arresting the flames before the old barn was reached. The barn, though not used at present is one of the oldest buildings in Redwood City and was a shipping point for lumber in the early days when the lumbering industry was the chief occupation of the county. The Hansen and Ackerson wharf was the chief loading place for ships which carried the valuable redwood lumber to all parts of the world.

A second call a few hours later was caused by the fire breaking forth again caused by the breeze fanning the smoldering grass into a flame. The second blaze was soon extinguished.

LOCAL CITIZEN MAKES PLEA FOR MEMORIAL TREES

If the people of San Mateo county are to keep in line with what many other communities are doing they should make some lasting monument to honor our young men who gave their lives for their country in the great war.

In some communities, club rooms, memorial halls, etc., are being erected for the American Legion. Many other towns and counties are dedicating groves of trees and planting groves or road-side shade trees.

As one who served in the war it seems to the writer that we here in San Mateo county have an opportunity of honoring our heroes that few places on our globe enjoy; one that is shared by only a half-dozen counties in our United States.

The popular movement to preserve a grove of redwoods gives our people the opportunity to dedicate such a park as a memorial to our fallen heroes which would be most appropriate and practical.

Club-houses and halls soon deteriorate and are out-grown; it will be fifty years before new planted trees reach a growth that inspire admiration or give much beneficial shade.

But our groves of thousand-year-old monarchs are already God's temples and places of inspiration and beauty and will continue long after we are gone and forgotten. No more appropriate monument could be imagined.

For the practical value of such a park we have only to look to the near-by State Park in the Big Basin for answer, which is yearly filled with thousands of campers spending a few weeks among these giants and returning with refreshed bodies and minds.

As a camp ground for the American Legion, the Boy Scouts, the people of our county and visitors from all over the country the Peterson property on the Pescadero creek could not be excelled.

Let us hope that our supervisors will not falter in this great work so well started and that we may have this wonderful grove of 'ever-living' Sequoias as an 'ever-living' remembrance to our heroes, and as 'ever-living' blessing to those who come after us.

This year the new lodge offers even greater chances for recreation than the old one which was destroyed by fire last fall. The building has been rebuilt better than before, and the program outlined by the genial host for the entertainment of his guests includes besides the excellent cousine for which the Lodge has always been noted entertainment that bids fair to make this year's celebration the greatest in the history of the La Honda resort.

Leaky Case Causes Arrest

A leaky cask of wine was an ill omen for Ernest Magincalda of Madera, who attempted last Tuesday morning early to transport a truck load of wine through Redwood City to San Francisco. Police Officers McAuliffe and Kreiss noticed a trail of liquid issuing from a passing truck, and upon following it up found the load to be several large casks of wine. Magincalda appeared before Recorder Mansfield that day and paid a fine of $100 for illegal possession and $300 for the illegal transportation of wine. The truck load of liquid refreshmens was also confiscated.

Miss Delphina Simmons went to Pacific Grove last Saturday to spend a few weeks with her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Swett.

VACATION TIME

Vacation has come. Schools are closed. From now until the first of September people all over the state will take a day or a week off from the regular routine and track to the mountains or seashore to take on some added vitality that the work of the coming year may be done better than it otherwise would have been done. Nature intends that every man and woman should take some time for rest and refreshment during each year. Every machine must have a rest at stated intervals. Man is a machine, therefore, he must have his rest and the trip be it ever so short gives him a chance to have that rest and change.

From the earlies time these vacations have been taken. The Psalmist said: "I will lift up my eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help."

Byron said: "Where rose the mountains, there to him were friends, where rolled the ocean, thereon was his home."

Here's hoping that everyone of our readers will have a pleasant vacation.

THE DUTY OF SAVING

Every normal citizen should feel that it is his duty to have a family. Having a family he should feel that it is his duty as a citizen to save his money. We do not mean by this that he should hoard his means, but we do feel that he should lay aside a little each month so that he will have something to help him when he is not able to help himself. This saving helps a man to be independent.

We do not know of any better means of saving than an account in a good savings and loan company. In such an institution a saver puts away a small amount each month and at the end of a remarkably short time a sizeable sum is turned back to the depositer. Here in Redwood City we have a Building and Loan Association that has given practical independence to hundreds of depositors. People do not need to go out of town to find a safe and sure depository. Those who send their money east or to some other section are making a mistake. They should patronize a home institution that they know is absolutely safe.

MAIN STREET

So far as our city is concerned the Highway is our "Main Street." Thousands upon thousands of people pass along that way every month. They do not come through town, they are merely passing through Every one who passes gets an idea. That idea may be a determining factor as to whether he likes our town or not. That being the case, we should endeavor to make the Highway as attractive as possible. We should say our greetings with flowers. Two weeks ago we had an editorial concerning flowers on the Highway. More people commented upon the article than have talked about any other editorial we have ever printed. Because of that fact we are harking back to it. Why wouldn't it be possible for Redwood City to be known as the city of flower lined highways. We have a sufficient force of gardeners employed by the town to keep up a strip of flowers from one end of Redwood City to the other. Let's get busy and be known as the town with flower lined streets.

VOX POPULI-VOX DEI

All true government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed, and is entitled to the exercise of these powers only so long as they are exercised equitably to all who come under the jurisdiction of the governing body. When a government, or any officer of a government interprets the law to read one way for one, and another way for another, that government becomes a despotism, and that officer a despot. This is true of any government, no matter how great or small; to a city government or to a nation. The ordinanees of the town are the laws of the town and as sacred, as such, as the laws of the nation, so long as they are justly administered, and as such command the respect of every law-abiding citizen. But when the law is made to apply to one and not to another, that law is, by its very inapplication made void, as far as the respect of the public is concerned, and should be repealed, if the fault is in the law; or the officer in who's keeping the law is entrusted, should be dealt with. We believe that the laws of any government must be respected for the safety of the government, and that when any law is disregarded it is time for the citizens of that government to inquire why.

HARDING TO VISIT CALIFORNIA

Sometime near the middle of next month President Harding will arrive in California on his tour of the United States. Elaborate plans have been made for the reception of the nation's leader, and nothing will be spared to make his visit in the Golden State a pleasant one. We hope that the president will enjoy our state. We are proud of it, and justly so. The American eagle claims dominion in every clime from the fridged shores of the Behring Sea to the palm-lined beaches of Cuba. Yet in all that vast range there exists no tract of the same size where as varied a climate and as diversified a scenery may be found as in our own state. Combining every natural advantage known to man, California may well be classed as the Union's most valuable possession We are glad to have the president a visitor in our state and hope that his stay in the "Little Empire of California" will be one of pleasure to him, as it is to the people of California to receive him.

HALFMOON BAY TO CELEBRATE JULY FOURTH

The anniversary of the birth of this nation will not go unnoticed in Half Moon Bay according to word received from that wide-awake coast town this week. A committee was organized to prepare plans for a celebration there last week, and a series of events has alrady been proposed that will make the occasion on to be remembered.

It was decided to give a big free beef barbecue. Cooked in the old fashioned way by the well-known and famous chef, John Francis, assisted by Clifford Shad. This barbecue will be held on the I. D. E. S. grounds, after the parade which will be formed at the Half Moon Bay Union High School building.

The parade will be headed by the band of Half Moon Bay, with forty instruments playing patriotic marches and jazz music, followed by Col. Felix B. LaCrosse and ex-service men

The Native Sons, Native Daughters, Eagles and the Isabelle society will take part.

After the barbecue patriotic services will be held at the grounds. District Attorney Franklin Swart of San Mateo county, will be the orator of the day.

The sports committee has arranged for holding such sports as catching the greased pig—climbing the greased pole—bicycle races—three legged race—fat men's race—sack race—potato race—and other events.

A dance will be held in the I. D. E. S. hall on the evening of the Third of July and on the afternoon of the Fourth.

Anarchy will never get much of a hold in this country so long as county fairs and circuses continue to draw the crowds.

HISTORY OF SAN MATEO COUNTY; WILLIAM SMITH AND JAMES PEACE, FIRST SETTLERS

The following article, taken from an old history of this county, from which we have taken others from time to time, deals with a character which will be remembered by many of the older residents of the county. William Peace was the first to raise the American flag in what is now San Mateo county. He lies buried now in Union cemetery here, and the Women's Relief Corps is contemplating the erection of a headstone on his grave.

The first white men other than the Spaniards, who made what might be considered a permanent settlement in this part of the country, was William Smith, more commonly knowa as "Bill, the Sawyer. He planted his domicile near where the town of Woodside now stands. At precisely what time he arrived at this coast, or what particular inducement brought him into the redwoods, no one now living can tell. The best authority on the subject and the most definite statement, is his own story, to the effect that he came out to Astoria on one of the Pacific Fur Company's ships, and that when the British in 1816 supplanted the Americans there and drove them out of the country, he came to California. Smith was an American, from one of the Eastern states, but which one is not known. One fact is certain, he was a resident of the Pueblo of San Jose in 1833. He married a Spanish lady, and when he was in the redwoods his oldest child was about a year old. He afterwards moved to a place north of the bay, where he died. His last residence was in what is now Marin county. His children are now elderly people and know comparitively little about the history of the old pioneer.

The next white settler after Smith, within the present county limits, was James Peace, who is now living, and still a resident of San Mateo county. Here his home has been continuously ever since he drove the first nail in his original cabin. Peace was on his father's side, a descendant of bonnie Scotland. His father was Stewart Peace, and his mother's maiden name was Ellen Essen. She was a native of Denmark. James was born on one of the Orkney islands in 1798; consequently he is now about eighty-five years of age. His father was a fisherman and owned a small fleet of litle fishing craft. When about eleven years of age, James was seized with an irresitable desire to go to sea, but failing to get permission from his parents and meeting only with strenuous opposition in that direction, he determined to run away from home, and not a great while elapsed before he had an opportunity afforded him for carrying out his design. A whaling vessel was about to sail from a neighboring port on a cruise to the northern ocean, for oil and whalebone. Young Peace left the parental roof without waiting to receive a blessing from father or mother, and hid himself away on board the vessel the day before she was to sail. When she weighed anchor he was snugly stowed away in the locker where he remained until the ship was one day out to sea. Then he crawled from ihs hiding and exhibited himself to the captain, who had no alternative than to take the little fellow with him on the voyage. While they were on the whaling coast the ship was wrecked and the whole crew was on the ice for fourteen days before they were rescued. "Jimmy," as he is even now best known, was absent from home about nine months on this voyage. Shortly after his return he bound himself to a ship owner named Popewell, of North Shields, for a period of four years, and was a sailor on a vessel that was employed in trade between North Shields and London. After the expiration of this term of apprenticeship, he indentured himself for another period of four years on board the ship, Mountaineer, of Glasglow, sailing from London to Calcutta. When his time was out he was discharged at Liverpool, but shipped almost immediately for a ten month's voyage to the West Indies.

The roving disposition which had impelled him at the tender age of eleven years to leave home, and choose the hard life of a seaman, now that he had nearly reached the age of twenty, filled him with a desire to see the new world. He there fore, upon returning from the West Indies, signed articles upon the Hudson Bay Fur Company's ship, Neriad, for the Columbia River, Oregon, and left Liverpool in 1818. Nothing except what is usually incident to the passage around Cape Horn until the ship arriped at Monterey on the coast of California. Here she put in for repairs. The next port she made was San Francisco, which was then but an embarcadero for the missions. The Neriad came to anchor under the brow of Telegraph hill, almost were the sea wall is built, in early days a considerable distance out to sea. At that time there was not a habitation nor a living soul, except the Spaniards who lived around the Mission Dolores During the passage up the coast Peace had had trouble with the captain and one of the mates of the ship, and he determined to leave their service. One pight, being on first watch, he quietly lowered a boat at the fore of the vessel, and soon had let down into it all his earthly possessions. The relief watch came in due time, and the sailor who took Jimmy's place luckily for him, fell asleep. Peace improved his opportunity, and dropping himself down into the small boat, rowed to shore without having disturbed the slumbers of the watch on deck. He got his things safely landed and carried them to the highest point on Telegraph hill—a designation given it later years to the then nameless little mountain—where he hid himself in the dense and tangled undergrowth. His hiding place was discovered by an old Spanish woman, Juanita Byeronlys, and although Peace could not understand a word of her language, he made her understand by signs that he had fled from the ship that was moored out in the stream, and that his chief anxiety was not to be seen by anyone wno might be interested in getting him on board again. The woman regarded his wishes with prudent care, and supplied him with food and water. Jimmy's retreat gradually became known to others, who were in the habit of climbing to the hill-top to look out for vessels or to enjoy the scenery, and among those who visited him were relatives of William Smith's wife, some of whom could speak a few words of English, and they gave Peace to understand that Smith was residing among the redwoods. The hiding place on Telegraph hill was becoming too generally known for security so long as the Neriad remained in the harbor. He had been there now six days, and he began to feel an apprehension that at any moment he might be seized by some of his old officers, and taken back to the ship as a deserter. In view of this probability, he enlisted the good services of his faithful friend, the old Spanish woman, who first discovered his hiding place, and through her, traded some broadcloth for a pony. At his request she took charge of his effects, and he set out in the direction which had been indicated to find Smith, a man who at least spoke his own language. The rout was not an easy one to follow. Roads there were none; trails ran in every direction, and at the close of the first day's travl Peace found himself among the timber of the Coast range. The forests were full of grizzly bears and other wild animals, and it required no little amount of courage for one unaccostumed to the wilds of a new country to face the dangers that existed all around him here with no companion, except his little Mexican pony. Peace wandered for four days through the mountains—sometimes scaling a ridge, sometimes threading his way through a wild and almost inaccessable canon—taking a zig-zag journey back and forth between the ocean and the bay before he found Smith's camp. The principal edifice here was Smith's house—a shake shanty which stood near where Mr. Copinger afterward built his adobe house. Jimmy took up his abode with Smith, and worked a year with him; then he put up a shake house for himself near that of Smith's. When Peace first came to the redwoods there was no white man save Smith in this vicinity. He distinctly remembers John Gilroy, then living at San Ysidro, and Ribert Livermore, who lived at San Jose from 1816 to 1820.

Many years ago Peace possessed a considerable amount of property, but it has all passed out of his hands, and his only wealth now consists of a fishing boat and its unimportant equipment. His little boat cruises the bay, and his experienced hand guides the helm. He sets his nets for fish and digs clams from the mud flats, and thus in the sere and yellow leaf he earns a subsistance. Jimmy is a slight built man of medium height and light complexion, and like most bold, adventurouous and honest spirits, he has grey eyes. But his form is bent with age, and it is altogether likely that before sun shall have completed many more cycles, the now oldest living pioneer of San Mateo county, will have gone to his rest.

Wild life conservationalists are complaining bitterly of prohibition. They say that fishermen nowadays are actualing fishing and are depleting the lakes and streams.

If everybody waited to own an automobile until he could afford to own one, a lot of high-pressure car salesmen would be selling oil stock.

One good test—

—of the purity and stability of a motor oil is the amount of carbon it forms.

Zerolene forms, on an average, 30% less carbon than other oils. The carbon is soft and fluffy and most of it blows out with the exhaust. For this reason the Zerolene-lubricated automobile may be driven from 25% to 50% farther without having the valves ground or the cylinders rebored.

Zerolene forms less carbon than any other motor oil known to us.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less. Ask for it by name—Zerolene.

FAKE FEDERAL AGENT PAYS $100 FINE

After pleading guilty to extortion and to posing as a federal agent, August Faisst, a tobacco merchant of San Francisco was fined $100 in the court of Judge George H Buck last Monday. Faisst was named in a complaint filed by Barney Bonzagni and Peietro Carmani some time ago, in which the plaintiffs charged tha Faisst, with two other men, posing as federal prohibition agents, had demanded $1,200 of them. When the money was not paid the bogus federal officers tied Bonzagni, Carmani and Bonzagni's wife to wagon wheels, but later reelased Mrs. Bonzagni when she promised to obtain $600 in San Francisco.

The two men were left tied to the wagon guarded by two of the fake federal officers, and Faisst took Mrs. Bonzagni to San Francisco to the home of Deyli Primo, where she said she could secure the money. Primo paid Faisst $600 and promised to pay the other $600 if he would return the next day.

The complaint sworn to by Bonzagni and Carmani was not filed for two days after the affair at La Honda. The story as now is that a Carmani, Bonzagni and others in bootlegging at La Honda, and that Faisst's nephew being thrown out of the gang for some reason, had demanded $1,200 as his share of the profits, which not being paid he had tried to collect with the aid of his uncle and others in the manner described.

Following up the evidense given by the parties in the case, Sheriff Lampkin, with Deputy Sheriff Laracou and Police Officen Kreiss went to La Honda in search of the still which Carmani was supposed to have been operating. Their search ended on the old Langley ranch on Woodruff creek, where a large still was discovered. Four men were found at the still, Carmani, Bonzagni and Primo. Carmani and Primo surrendered but Bonzagni escaped, but a warrant is now out for his arrest.

The two men were brought before Justice of the Peace Griffin Wednesday and find $300 each for the illegal possession of liquor. They were then taken to Judge Buck, weher they plead guilty to illegal operation of a still. Upon this charge each was fined $800. Primo paid both of his fines and was released but his companion claimed that he had no money and was retained in the county jail.

The still found at La Honda is the largest yet found in the county, 3,500 gallons of mash were found at the still and 100 gallons of liquor. These were dumped into the creek by the sheriff's men.

FOURTH OF JULY ACROSS THE BAY

Contra Costa County's Independence day celebration is to be held this year at Danville, in the shadow of Mount Diablo. Sponsoring the affair, which will be in the nature of a big picnic, are Mount Diablo Post of the American Legion and the Women's Legion Auxiliary. The celebration will be held in the old grammar school grounds and Grange hall, adjoining the two places being thrown together for the occaion. There will be a band concert morning and afternoon, a jitney dance in the afternoon, a ball in the evening and various amusements all the time. It will be the only Fourth of July celebration of an official nature in the county, all the other Legion posts in Contra Costa deferring to Danville this year.

One who finds it necessary to boast of his religion or his patriotism is unlikely to be either religious or a patriot.

METHODISTS HOLD LOCAL CONFERENCE

The fourth quarterly conference of the Methodist Episcopal church was held last Saturday evening at the arsonage with Dr George W .White, the presiding elder of this district, presiding. The official board of the church presented Dr. White with a petition signed by practically every member and many friends of the church asking that the present pastor be returned by the next annual conference which will be held on September 11 at Grass Valley.

This petition testifies to the high esteem in which Reverend Peck is hld by every member of the congregation, and is a well-earned tribute to the popular pastor.

The reports which were made at the conference, showed that the faith of the people in their pastor had not been unfounded. The affairs of the church have never, in the history of the church in Redwood City, been in as good shape at conference time as those showed by the reports of last week. The membership of the church has doubled since the beginning of the year when Rev. Peck took charge of the parish, and the finances of the church are taken care of until next September.

The world is getting better. You hardly ever find a bright young man doing parlor tricks now-a-days.

Mark the passing of the old-fashioned business man who thought that in order to be a good executive that he had to keep the help scared.

Because "there's no place like home" is the reason a good many men hate to go there.

One man's religion is another man's hypocrisy.

If the old world begins to wabble in June it will be because so many graduates are rushing out into it at one time.

A chronic loafer is the worst work of nature.

Spare the rod and spare the child.

Those who think religion is dying don't visit the churches.

Cleaning Without Odor by the

F. Thomas Process

Our many years of experience has taught us that it is impossible to do perfect cleaning with cheap, inferior methods. That is why we found it necessary to invest nearly $500,000 in the equipment of a plant and the establishment of an expert organization to do the quality of work demanded by our customers.

With the "F. Thomas Process" we not only remove every particle of dust but we return your garments without that usual disagreeable smell of gasoline. Every drop of gasoline we use in cleaning is redistilled and very highly refined.

Raw gasoline—the kind that you buy for your automobile—is full of heavy oils and unfit for cleaning fabrics. It is little better than ordinary distillate and leaves a sickening "gasoline" smell in your clothes

Health, love and sufficient money for comfortable living are the most important things in the world, in the order named. Unhappiness is caused by the absence of any one of them.

You never knew an "eternal triangle" that didn't go to smash 'way short of eternity.

Children probably worry as much as parents worry about managing their children.

The height of your absurdity may be measured by the depth of your egotism.

A canary can be killed with kindness—but human beings are not canaries.

At fifty every man is either reducing to music or telling the boys that he is stronger than he was at thirty.

Love undoubtedly is the greatest thing in the world and it's strange that more grocers and landlords don't feel that way about it.

Mr. and Mrs. James D O'Kane will return home today from a two weeks' trip to Yosemite Valley.

All the pastors of the Catholic Archdiocese of San Francisco are holding their annual retreat at St. Patrick's Seminary this week. A number of priests who were formerly connected with the Church of the Nativity are almong the number.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin Walsh will arrive in Menlo Park from a visit to Mr. Walsh's old home in Iowa tomorrow afternoon. They left last May to visit the land of the constable's youthful dreams. From letters received from them indicate that they had a delightful trip.

The roof of the residence of Edward Lawlor caught fire in some unaccountable manner last Monday night. A quick response by the fire department soon stopped the progress of the blaze. The building was the first erected in Menlo Park being built in the latter sixties by the late Andrew Lawlor, a pioncer of Menlo Park. The structure was damaged to the extent of $250. There was no insuranec.

Mr. Slinger, proprietor of the Fremont Taxi, contemplates the erection of a two-story building on Santa Cruz avenue extended. The lower story will be occupied by stores and the upper part will be an apartment

Miss Ethel McEvoy, up until a few years ago a resident of Menlo Park, was united in marriage in Oakland last week to Gilbert H. Smith, a banker of that city. The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. H. McEvoy and for several years has taught in the Oaland school department. She is a graduate of the Sequoia Union High School at Redwood City and the Teachers' College of San Jose. After her graduation she became a member of the faculty of the Redwood City grammar school and taught there for a number of years. The charming bride is an educator of ability. She has resigned her Oakland charge. Mr. and Mrs. Smith have cozy quarters in the Raymond apartments, Oakland.

The Native Daughters will give another old-fashioned dance in Native Sons' hall Wednesday evening, July 25. The event last week was such a success that many have asked the Native Daughters to give another.

James Murray was removed from the Palo Aito hospital last week and removed to his home here. He is very low and very little hope is held out for his recovery. Mr. Murray is a pioneer of San Mateo county, well known and highly respected.

Mr. and Mrs. John Moriarty celebrated their golden jubilee last Sunday having been married in the little town of Dewagh, County Kerry, Ireland, fifty years ago. The young couple arrived in Menlo Park five years after the wedding and have resided here ever since. The occasion was quietly observed at their home on Santa Cruz avenue by a dinner to a few friends and the immediate family. Nine children were born to them but only three are living, Miss Annie Moriarty, Edward Moriarty and Mrs. Shine.

The neat sum of $12,000 was the result of the circus and this will be subscribed to the Convelescent Home at the old Stanford residence for children. The cause is a worthy one to which the people gave liberally Among those having boxes in the grand stand were: Alexander Hamilton, Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, W. B. Weir, Mark A. McCann, E. S. That he is now laboring in Congress for a new postoffice building for Menlo Park, was the statement made yesterday before the first California Postal Conference Convention in San Francisco, by Senator Samuel M. Shortridgge.

The statement followed an announcement by First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett that he had brought with him from Washington authority to contract for new postoffice buildings in San Francisco and Oakland, to remedy the present intolerable conditions.

Should the senator secure the necessary appropriation at the next congress a site will be seucred and a substantial building erected that will be a credit to the town and nation.

A bridge and Mah jongg party was given at the Menlo Park Country Club yesterday afternoon for the benefit of the furnishing fund of the new Menlo Circus Club.
